Our task is to open our heart so that our Dear Lord can pour much blessings.

In addition, we must take care of our body not only physically but more of spiritually and be proud of it. It is because the temple is a place where we can meet our Lord, and celebrate the gift of life with Him.

The last part of the training was the distribution of certificates to the participants as they finished the 5-day mass training.

This new program called Alternative Learning System version 2.0, definitely a big change and challenge for the ALS community. A lot of changes to make, from their Functional Literacy Test given to the enrollees to know their level, it is more comprehensive and detailed. They add more topics to be discussed and should be integrated to other Learning Strands. Four A's (Activity, Analysis, Abstraction and Application) should be used in teaching in ALS. Paper works and to teaching methodologies and strategies should work by the people involved.
